

Teacher instructions

On the following pages, you will find three timelines. The first is for key battles of the Revolutionary War, the second for the British taxes and colonists’ reactions to the taxes that led to the war, and the third for key colonial meetings and documents of the United States of America.

Each timeline comes with a line and booklets. Each line has a box for the right number of booklets, and there are extra booklets in case students need to remake any. Students should print out each booklet and fold them in half. On the inside, they should describe that event and its importance. An example of what a completed timeline looks like is below.
